DASHING TO FIGHT BLAZE, a Granite City fireman adjusts an oxygen mask on his face before entering a room at the Imperial 400 Motel, which was the center of dense smoke during Saturday's

Hartigan Aids Walker In Seeking New Airport

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday announced the first series of responsibilities he has asked Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan to assume and which Hartigan has agreed to accept. The governor said, "Lt. Gov. Hartigan will be my personal representative in negotiations to secure a major airport for the area south of East St. Louis.

"The airport is vitally needed to help develop the economy of the bi-state region. The cost of such an airport would give to the area is incalculable.

"Rarely is such an opportunity presented that allows airport development without causing harm to the environment, and we must take advantage of it.

"It will be a difficult task; but I am confident that if anyone can succeed, it will be Neil.

"As an ongoing assignment, I also want Lt. Gov. Hartigan to work with me in coordinating programs dealing with the elderly citizens of the state.

"Both Neil and I are concerned that the full benefit of all the programs for our senior citizens is diminished because the programs are scattered through state government as a result of their being developed on a piecemeal basis.

"I want him to help me give the programs direction so that they will be more responsive to the needs of the elderly.

"I believe a well-directed, well-coordinated program by all levels of government and private agencies will eliminate a great deal of overlapping, duplication and time-consuming red tape.

"I am sure we also will be better able to identify the gaps and omissions in our programs for the elderly. Neil will conduct on-the-spot inspections and studies of state facilities involving the elderly.

"Neil Hartigan has named Manuel Toledo as administrative assistant to the lieutenant governor; I have named Hector Guzman as assistant to the governor. These two men will work together with Neil and me on problems affecting Spanish-speaking people.

"Neil will also work with the Department of Business and Economic Development in two vital areas: first, the expansion of ecologically sound industrial development for currently depressed areas, and secondly in expanding the participation of Illinois farmers and manufacturers in world markets.

"It is my belief that a totally viable economy for the entire state will do more to reduce our tax burden than any other factor, and I'm sure that Neil will be very helpful in this field."

Motel Damaged By Fire

Fire, apparently started by intruders, caused about $5,500 damage to the vacant Imperial 400 Motel, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave., Saturday.

Firemen were called to the scene at 11:05 a.m. Saturday when dense smoke was noticed coming from the roof of the south end of the building.

In the end room on the second floor, flames had gutted the room, destroying all the furniture and causing about $4,500 damage to the building.

"There is evidence of use of the room by unauthorized persons, as beer cans and cigarette butts were found inside," a firefighter at the scene commented. A screen had been torn from the front window to gain entrance.

The 40-unit motel has been

Mayor Debate Proposed, Attainments Challenged

Responding to allegations made Thursday by a supporter of Mayor Donald Partney, Alderman Paul Schuler today denied them and challenged the mayor to a debate. The two are rivals for the mayor office in the Granite City municipal election.

Schuler's statement follows: "First and finally, I am not now, nor have I been since elected alderman of the Sixth Ward, a partner in Vaughn's Pharmacy.

"Income tax records, narcotics licenses and accounting records all prove this, and it is unfortunate that Mayor Partney, who is unable or unwilling to do so himself, had to begin the campaign by having a political appointee of his make this false charge.

"I hereby challenge Mayor Partney to a public debate, the time and place to be arranged by any civic organization at my expense, to discuss the real issues of this campaign.

"The chief issue is his complete and utter failure to carry out his campaign promises of four years ago — and, for that matter, eight years ago.

"Using Mayor Partney's own words, he stated in the Press-Record —

"I also pledge to work for the following:

"1. An economical storm water drainage system.

"2. Civil service for city employees not covered by the fireman and policeman act.

"3. Reduction of air pollution.

"4. Downtown urban renewal.

"5. The John Kennedy plaza on the old post office site.

"6. A postal substitution downtown.

"7. Relieve traffic congestion.

"8. Construction of a railroad overpass in the city.

"9. Construct comfort stations in business areas.

"10. Assist the local hospital in attracting the services of a resident physician.

"11. Return the operation of the sanitation department to the city.

"12. City's own engineering department.

"Of the above 12 pledges, none were carried out by the mayor," Schuler asserted.

"Mayor Partney further stated —

"I absolutely pledge the following to the citizens of Granite City:

"1. An annual disclosure of my income tax report to the local newspaper.

"2. To give up private business and be a full-time mayor.

"3. To constantly work for unity between council and mayor in solving city problems."

Schuler concluded, "The kind of that can be said about this is that he absolutely failed in his pledge.

"Not only Mayor Partney failed to live up to any of his pledges during the time he has been in office, but further — in the last several months — our city has seen the loss of 2,800 jobs in basic industry and government with the closing of the depot, the closing of Union Star and the closing of General Steel.

"There has been no new industry attracted to our city. Further, the downtown mall has not materialized.

"These are only some of the issues of the campaign which must be discussed so that the people of Granite City can make the most informed choice possible to pick the leader of our city in this critical period of our city's history."

Lambert Cannot Meet Air Needs--New Study

A new and highly-respected study of the aviation future of the St. Louis metropolitan area has dealt what may be a death blow to the proposal for a $370 million expansion of Lambert Field.

Such a project actually would cost $315 million and still would not be adequate, it was asserted Friday by the Tippett-Abbott-McCarthy-Stracon consulting firm, which had been hired by the St. Louis Airport Authority.

The major expansion of Lambert was suggested by St. Louis and St. Louis County financial leaders to head off the proposed construction of a $350 million Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., facility designed to be the world's greatest airport.

While showing that there is no way Lambert can meet this region's airport needs in the final quarter of this century and beyond, the new study made it clear that Lambert could and should continue to play a key role, in conjunction with the new airport.

The consulting firm made its report to the St. Louis Airport Authority, the city agency that operates Lambert Field.

The Lambert expansion plan had been publicized by the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority, which was created by the state of Missouri to try to block the Illinois airport plan developed jointly by the state of Illinois and city of St. Louis.

The Missouri-St. Louis board has no actual jurisdiction at either Lambert or other airports.

The study related that building of new runways and terminal facilities would increase Lambert capacity, but said ground access routes would be saturated by 1985 and the terminals by 1987, as well as parking space. Also, non-airline operations would be severely limited in the late 1980s, it said.

Noise patterns of expanded Lambert "would result in the continued exposure of significant numbers of persons to objectionable aircraft noise."

"To acquire residential and community facilities within areas seriously impacted by noise would result in dislocation of many low-income families," the study found.

County Assessments To Pass $1 Billion

Total property assessments for Madison County for the 1972 tax year will pass the $1 billion mark for the first time in the county's history.

The $1 billion-plus property valuation became certain today with announcement by James Barton, county supervisor of assessments, setting the 1972 local assessment at $956,484,045, an increase of $18,666,680 over the county's 1971 local assessment of $937,817,365.

Still to be added to the local assessment for 1972 are railroad property values of more than $15 million and capital stock assessments of more than $3 million, which is expected to bring the overall county assessments to approximately $1,014,000,000.

Last year's total county assessments for the 1971 tax year amounted to $996,465,495 — just $3.5 million short of the $1 billion mark. That assessment included the $976,817,365 in local valuations, $16,250,430 in railroad assessments and $3,392,700 in capital stock valuations.

Case for New Levee Boards

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Legislation providing for division of the Madison and St. Clair County sectors of the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District does not change the county boundaries in any way that would require a referendum vote for approval, Judge Robert Gagen of the St. Clair County Circuit Court was told late Thursday in a brief filed by Horace Calvo, Granite City attorney, in behalf of trustees of the Madison Levee District.

The brief, citing precedent court rulings to support the constitutionality of the levee split legislation, was filed with Judge Gagen in proceedings instituted by St. Clair County levee trustees in an effort to prevent division of the old levee district along county lines.

Arguments in the case were heard in mid-January by Judge Gagen, who requested attorneys for both sides to submit briefs.

Judge Gagen will rule on the constitutionality of the levee district division after a study of the briefs. No oral arguments have been scheduled.

The brief was filed late Thursday afternoon a few hours after a hearing in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville in which Circuit Judge William Beatty heard a motion to hold Ronald Wilton, East St. Louis trustee of the old levee district, in contempt of court.

While reprimanding Wilton in connection with a move to withdraw levee district funds from banks in Granite City and Madison, Judge Beatty also commended Wilton for his attitude after the trustee said he was not his intention to ignore a court order and that he would change the district's spending methods.

No contempt citation was issued by the judge who said "We'll let the matter rest until we see what happens."

The contempt citation was sought by Calvo in behalf of Madison Levee District Trustees William "Mike" Elser and Russell Robinson on grounds that Wilton had defied a Jan. 11 court order by Beatty that spending by the old levee district be limited until the

In 1951, the one millionth fatality attributed to traumatic injury was recorded.

If we don't commence planning and trying to prevent future injuries, it is estimated that in three short years we will record our two millionth fatality.

The cause of such injury and death can be attributed to:

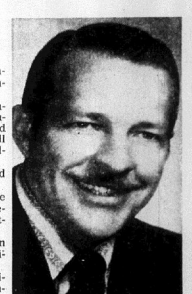

1. Patients being at the scene for too long a period of time before they reach medical assistance.

2. Improper procedures in managing patients by unqualified personnel at the scene.

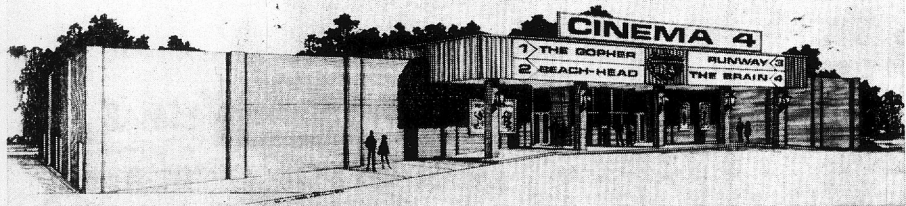

3. Medical facilities not readily available to care for the injured.

4. Patients being transported too far and under adverse medical conditions, by improper vehicles.

Here was the love which launched a thousand ships and she was Helen, daughter of Sparta, a Greek city state. When she was recognized as the most beautiful woman in Greece and her father selected Menelaus, a warrior-prince as her husband. But while Menelaus was away at war, Paris, son of Prius, the Trojan King, persuaded her to flee with him to Troy.

Returning, Menelaus and his army and sailed in a thousand ships to recover his beloved Helen. They laid siege to the heavily fortified city for 10 years, and finally de-cided to build a great wooden horse, while the mystified Trojans watched. The horse was hollow, and when ready, they secreted their fleet fighters inside.

The next day, the army was loaded aboard the ships and set sail, leaving the Trojans to believe the siege was lifted. That night, friends inside the city opened the gates and the Trojans' horses moved in, and Menelaus' heroes took the city.

Paris was killed during the last moments of the siege, in 1194 B.C., when Helen married his brother Deiphobus, but he betrayed him and handed him over to Menelaus, who killed him. Helen returned to Sparta as Menelaus' wife.

Madison Crime Increase of 1.2% Below National Average of 6%

The incidence of serious crimes in Madison in 1972 rose 1.2% over the previous year, while nationwide crime rose 6%, according to the annual report of the Madison Police Department which was completed last week.

A total of 515 major crimes, defined as criminal homicide, rape, robbery, assault, burg-lary, larceny-theft and auto theft, were reported in Madison in 1972, compared to 509 in 1971, the report said.

In a letter with the report, Madison Chief of Police Frank Dutko detailed some of the changes in the department during the year which he said he felt contributed to keeping the crime rate below the national average.

Among the changes were a greater utilization of manpower to improve patrol conditions with one-man patrol cars and the K-9 (police dog) patrol. Also noted was cooperation with the State of Illinois Department of Law Enforcement in a state-wide ISPERN radio network linking police stations.

Policemen worked under a modified organizational structure of authority during the year and 75% of the department's personnel have enrolled in courses leading toward a police science degree, Dutko reported.

The humane division handled 941 cases during the year and one person bitten by animals, according to the annual summary.

Enclosed in the document was a staff report on the use of the VASCAR radar unit. It was operated for one month on a trial basis and sev-

The total number of calls for police service in the city de-clined from 107 to 120, and auto theft, 15,169 last year. The number of traffic arrests decreased 35.9%, from 298 in 1971 to 193 last year, while 247 jail confinements in-creased 24.4% from 303 to 377, the report showed. Traffic ac-cidents increased from none to 10.

Dutko also reported an in-crease of 31.5% in the juvenile case load, from 219 to 288. A total of 247 jail confinements resulted from Madison police action in 1972, he disclosed. Patrol cars logged 520,019 miles during the year, according to the document.

Tables in the report showed declines in the number of as-sault, rape and larceny-theft cases while the incidence of other major crimes increased.

Assault cases were down from 70 in 1971 to 66 last year, rape cases declined from two to none and larceny-theft declined from 361 to 260.

Increasing were robbery, up from 18 to 19, burglary, up from 107 to 120, and auto theft, increasing from 49 to 54.

The humane division handled 941 cases during the year and one person bitten by animals, according to the annual summary.

Enclosed in the document was a staff report on the use of the VASCAR radar unit. It was operated for one month on a trial basis and seven Madison officers were trained in its use and certified by the state.

The staff report said the old radar units are obsolete and break down often where VASCAR units are more modern, require less handling and need no calibration before use.

The cost was listed per unit as $800, of which $400 would be reimbursed by a federal grant.

The staff recommended that two VASCAR units be purchased at a cost to the city of $500 each, as soon as funds become available.

It was indicated that traffic fines from arrests made possible with the units should more than pay for the initial cost plus the cost of maintenance for the two units.

Chief Dutko concluded the report saying that, "despite the apparent volume of calls for police services recorded, Madison continues to be a relatively safe place to live."

"This department will go on record as a progressive agency and has been upgraded through foresight in the past by the members of the City Council. We pledge to continue to serve the officials and citizens of the city of Madison to the best of our ability."

Dutko also reported that the police department has continued to sponsor Explorer Post 10-4 which has an active membership of 35 teenagers interested in law enforcement.

Woman Doctor Named To State Health Post

Gov. Dan Walker has announced the appointment of Dr. Joyce Lashof of Chicago as acting director of the Department of Public Health.

Dr. Lashof is now the chairman of the department of preventive medicine at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. The mother of three children, Dr. Lashof was co-author with Dr. Mark Lepper of a nationally acclaimed report on community health care for low income neighborhoods.

Dr. Lepper last week was named as director of comprehensive health planning.

In announcing the appointment, Gov. Walker said: "I am very concerned about adequate delivery of health service in Illinois. Dr. Lashof shares my concern. I know that concern was an important factor in her decision to accept the post as acting director."

"Under the leadership of Dr. Lashof and Dr. Lepper, I believe Illinois can move forward in this important area of helping people."

Because of a technicality, Dr. Lashof will serve as acting director. A master's degree in public health is a requirement of the job of director.

In addition to publishing several scholarly papers on public health, Dr. Lashof is a nationally known authority on infectious and communicable diseases. She is the founding director of the Mile Square Health Center on Chicago's West Side. And Dr. Lashof also was awarded a special fellowship from the U. S. Public Health Service for the study of epidemiology and medical care.

The public health post pays a salary of $35,000 annually.

Bolen Chosen to Head 1973 Easter Seal Drive

St. Louis television and radio personality Jim Bolen has been named the 1973 campaign chairman of the Easter Seal Society's annual drive. This will be the second year in a row Bolen has been selected to serve in this capacity by the Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois.

The Easter Seal Campaign will open March 1 and will continue through Easter Sunday, April 22. A special event, a radiothon, featuring Bolen, will be held April 7 to raise funds for services to physically handicapped children. The annual Lilly Days campaign, conducted by the Youth Council of the society, is being planned for March.

New 'Snip and Take' Plan Benefits Phone Customers

Next time you move, you may be able to snip your phone cord and take the telephone along under a new Southwest Bell plan called "snip-and-take."

Individual or two-party residence customers with model telephones who move to another location within the telephone company's metropolitan operating area can take advantage of the plan, according to Dale Kaeshoer, Granite City manager for the company.

The operating area includes St. Louis, Madison and St. Clair counties in Illinois and all or parts of eight Missouri counties.

"We'll also credit $5 to a customer's account for participating in snip-and-take," Kaeshoer added. He stressed that customers first should contact the telephone business office regarding their moving plans. If they are eligible for snip-and-take, they need simply cut the cord near the wall and take the telephone to their new address.

There, while connecting new phones, a telephone company installer will pick up the old instrument which is refurbished before being used again.

He noted that certain instruments, such as most wall phones, still must be removed by the installer.

"The $5 credit applies only when no visit to the old residence is required and, of course, the customer must take all the phones to the new address," Kaeshoer said.

"Snip-and-take is another effort by our company to slow the effects of inflation and help keep down the cost of service to the customer," he added.

"Since our installers don't have to make special trips to pick up the old phones, they

Department Heads from Other States Give New Look to State Government in Illinois

By AL MANNING
Copy News Service

Springfield—Gov. Dan Walker claims that he had taken a different approach to government and that his appointments are based "solely on who can do the job that I want to see get done."

Most clearly, he differs with previous administrations with his nation-wide search for directors of key departments. Three out-of-state directors have thus far been nominated, with prospects of more to come.

There are two main reasons he had been able to do this:

One, compared to other states, Illinois pays its executives high salaries.

Two, the old constitutional requirement that appointees be a resident of this state one year prior to their appointment was removed in the new constitution.

The governor is also fond of stressing that he does not "go through" Democratic county chairmen before making his selections.

The relationship between governors and county chairmen is open to interpretation.

Former governors were probably closer personally to many of the local politicians. But that does not mean they relied solely on the advice of county chairmen for their appointments.

At least one county chairman has made recommendations to Walker and he does not view the governor's approach as being any different.

Indeed, Walker is doing what other governors have done—appointing his supporters to positions on which he relies for advice.

They may not be the old-time party regulars like many appointees were in the past, but Walker is not an old-time politician. This is his first public office, and most of them were early supporters of his candidacy.

For all the appointees thus far did not favor Walker in the March primary. Among them was Marvin Lieberman of Decatur.

Two points about Lieberman's appointment are worth noting: he has not taken an "anti-industry approach with the Illinois Commerce Commission that Walker emphasizes with the Department of Insurance; and he is a former state representative.

In making the appointment of Anthony Angelos and later Fred Mauck to head the insurance department, the governor continually referred to the fact they would be consumer orientated.

Not so for Lieberman, who heads an equally important commission when consumer interests are considered.

All Illinoisans are affected by utility rates. Lieberman has taken a stance favoring neither the industry nor the consumer and says that perhaps the interests of both are not as much in conflict as some would think.

It is worth noting that Lieberman is a former legislator because it shows that Walker's approach is somewhat similar to that of his predecessor, Richard Ogilvie, each appointed a former lawmaker to head a department.

William Blaser, former director of the Environmental Protection Agency, served one term in the House.

The new EPA director, Mary Lee Leahy, was one of Walker's early campaign supporters and she will continue as one of his key advisors in her new duties. Mrs. Leahy and her husband, Andrew, are independent Democrats who undoubtedly influenced some of Walker's independent two-year campaign for governor.

Mrs. Leahy, incidentally, quite possibly will become the highest paid woman in state government at $35,000.

Andrew Leahy, a staff assistant in the governor's inner office, will earn another $22,000 to make them one of the highest paid couples in government.

They probably earned a similar amount while engaged in the private practice of law.

hicles that cannot provide the necessary medical capabilities. When these conditions exist, the burden of the patients becomes an economic factor on the community by loss of pay, unemployment and placement on welfare. Last, but not least, they may have limited recovery, be permanently disabled, or become a fatality statistic.

To help combat the death and injuries on Illinois highways and streets of Illinois cities, the trauma concept was initiated in July 1971. Since that time, the trauma program has grown to nine regional centers located in various areas of Illinois. Area-wide centers are also placed strategically throughout the state to back up the regional centers and to provide support for the local trauma centers.

With the allocation of a trauma center to a specific area, it is the responsibility of that community to utilize all of its resources to help reduce the risk of accidents and to improve the quality of care for the injured, and develop a workable plan for emergency medical care for all its citizens.

That is the task we face until we have shown a decline in the mortality and morbidity rate to which we have become complacent.

With public awareness through safety programs, driver education in our high schools, and industrial safety training, we will be able to reduce the rate—and consequently be able to beat the hands of time so that one out of every four persons will not become a trauma fatality.

What steps have been taken to reduce these statistics in this area?

The designation of St. Elizabeth Hospital as an Area Wide Trauma Center is an example. It will serve the following counties in the trauma network: Madison, Bond, Randolph, Washington, Monroe, Clinton and St. Clair.

The concept of the center here at St. Elizabeth is community-oriented to provide to the citizens of this area immediate medical attention from the scene to the trauma unit, while providing the lifesaving support to the patient that is so vital to his well being. After the initial support, the patient has started to receive the definitive care which will return him to the community as a productive member of society.

To further complement the center we have available in the area many ambulances. They help facilitate speedy access to the patient and bring the injured patient to the center—while giving the life support necessary to enhance the patient's chances for a quick and responsive recovery.

If the need arises, there is available through the Illinois Division of Highway Traffic Safety a helicopter that could be activated to help bring a patient from rural areas to the center, when time is of the essence.

Under the auspices of the center, the first Emergency Medical

Meeting in New Hall

A regular meeting of the Pontoon Beach Village Board will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the new village hall, 3839 Lake Drive. It will be the first meeting held in the new meeting hall, a former Jim Green Construction Co. building.

Technical Ambulance Class has commenced

The class is 82 hours in duration and ten of those hours will be spent in the Emergency Room to further familiarize the students with various medical procedures.

The EMT/A class covers all aspects of injuries, extrication and proper procedures for the management of the injured person.

The classes are physician/trauma coordinated instructed. Upon the completion, the technicians will receive EMT/A National Registry Certificates of Completion for college credits from the Lewis and Clark Community College.

To help the program be even further productive, the utilization of the HEAR system will come into being. Hospital Emergency Area Radio will put the EMT in communication with the physician in the emergency room, relating the procedures for the EMT to follow as to each injury while on the scene and en route to the hospital.

The EMT classes are for law enforcement agencies, fire departments, sheriff's offices, defense and any other agencies so indicated in the time of need or disaster.

Personnel who have completed the course will be registered EMT/A Technicians on the scene of an emergency. It is through the efforts and knowledge of the EMTs that a vital role will be played. He may determine the difference between life and death. His knowledge will not be wasted.

With the expansion of the program, there will be the citizens of this region as the Overland Critical Care Van and the Outreach Community Care Bus.

The function of the OCCV will be to give any and all lifesaving support to the patient while en route to the center.

The necessity of speed would no longer be paramount; the patient would be under the direct capabilities of the physician.

It will be equipped with some of the following medical equipment: radio communications, telemetry devices, laboratory aids and lifesaving medications.

The OCCV will be equipped with radio communications to relate to the police, fire, civil defense and any other agency.

It will function as a command post for logistics and have the capability of rapidly changing its location as needed.

Through the joint efforts and community, through participation and training, and with community resources, patients' chances for quick recovery will be greatly enhanced through the network of the trauma system.

Levee Board

question over constitutionality of the levee split is settled. Since the Jan. 11 order, the St. Clair County trustees, acting as the old levee district, notified the First Granite City National Bank that it planned to withdraw $102,927 in funds, and notified the First National Bank in Madison of intention to withdraw $400,735 in levee district funds.

Judge Beatty said Wilborn had acted on his own in issuing the order for the withdrawal, but that the action did not violate the "letter of the order" issued on Jan. 11.

He said it was evident Wilborn had acted on his own in issuing the order for the withdrawal, but that the action did not violate the "letter of the order" issued on Jan. 11.

During a recess, William Starnes, attorney for the St. Clair County Trustees, said they would work out an agreement to take money from all district depository banks in both St. Clair and Madison Counties, and money would be returned to the Quad-City banks on the basis of this agreement.

The proceedings in St. Clair County in which Calvo filed the brief Thursday originally were initiated as an injunction plea by the St. Clair County trustees. The suit sought to prevent appointment of additional trustees to make up separate five-man boards for the newly-legislated separate districts in the two counties, also sought to perpetuate the East Side District.

Judge Gagen, in his January ruling, dismissed the injunction as to application of the law. Walker, and held that the old levee district could continue in limited operation until the time of the new legislation was determined.

Calvo denies in his brief that Section 5 of the levee split act is inconsistent with other sections as alleged by the plaintiffs, but actually would apply to the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District and "would apply to any two-county levee district formed elsewhere in the state of Illinois at any time henceforth."

The brief also states in part: "It appears perfectly clear that each new district (the separate Madison and St. Clair County Districts) will operate the sanitary sewers, treatment plants and other facilities."

"It is also clear in considering the act and amendments as a whole that the contracts with the various cities and townships relative to treatment of sanitary sewage by the treatment plants located in St. Clair County would be operated by the St. Clair County Levee and Sanitary District."

"It further appears clear that the area served by the new districts is the same as the prior area served."

"They would each have authority to tax the portion of the district with their boundaries and have the obligation of operating the facilities within their area, performing contracts to existence and paying all existing debts and obligations."

St. Louis Firm Low Bidder for Locks Work

Fruin-Colson Corporation of St. Louis was announced Friday as the apparent successful bidder for a Corps of Engineers contract to construct an extension to the lower guide wall on the downstream side of Locks 27 in the Chain of Rocks Canal at Granite City.

The construction, in excess of $6 million, calls for building a 600-foot-long concrete wall along the landward side of the locks.

Colonel Guy E. Jester, district engineer, explained that the guide wall is badly needed in that area because of a cross wind problem.

"Multiple barge tows need a long steady straight approach to the locks," Jester said. "The addition of the guide wall is expected to reduce the hazard of wind-blown barges making a lock approach."

The upstream guide wall construction has been under way since last September and is now approximately 50% complete. Fruin-Colson is the contractor on this work also.

Locks 27 at Granite City is an important link in the Mississippi River navigation system. It handles almost 50 million tons of water-borne freight moved through the locks, an increase of 10 million tons since 1971.

Locks 27 and the Chain of Rocks Canal were built in the 1940's and need to be allowed river traffic to bypass the treacherous Chain of Rocks Reach.

In the 60's a low water rock dam was put across this stretch to build a pool depth for tows to navigate the pool between Granite City and Locks 26 at Alton.

It is expected that the lower guide wall construction will take two years to complete.

National unemployment dropped to 5% in January, the first time it has been below 6% since July 1970. Illinois joblessness dropped to 4.1% from 4.2% in December, a year ago the state figure was 6.2%.

Community Involvement Aids State Patients

Staff members of Alton State Hospital are working with volunteer groups to dissolve the concept that their group parties are for entertainment only.

Volunteers are an important part of the overall treatment team. Staff members of Alton State have added a new dimension to the volunteer role, and that is, using the community activity as an evaluative tool for their treatment plan, for each individual client that attends and participates.

The Northern Unit's Community Tour Team talks with the volunteer groups to explain to them what they might expect. Some of those expectations are to observe whether the client participates in conversation; whether he uses good manners; does he practice socialization skills; does he use good personal grooming habits; and staff members ask questions about whether he perhaps correcting a client and telling him the way something should be done.

L. D. Kelly, mental health specialist, said, "This very thing is very effective. When a volunteer reacts the same as a staff person would to a given situation, the client sees someone else handling him the same way. Volunteers support the staff and the client who is acceptable in society, and in public."

Mrs. Mary Ann Williams, mental health specialist, said, "We like to tell the volunteers what to expect from our clients for an activity, and some information about these clients' attitudes. We discuss diets also. 'We want the volunteer to be natural and give the client time to feel comfortable and fit into the group, before he would make any corrections of social errors, as an example.' Continuing she said, "We feel the three pre-requisites of a good volunteer include patience, compassion and understanding."

Clients have the freedom to sign up on the ward if they would like to attend one of the community activities, and many of them are recommended to go by their primary therapist. A primary therapist is an employee that has been assigned to perhaps three clients and is responsible to communicate with that particular client to fulfill his needs. An example would be that the client has someone with whom he can discuss his problems or questions at any time.

Staff members explained that some of their clients might act more readily in the community than at the hospital. Should this happen the staff works extra hard with a client to straighten out his behavior before he goes to a community activity again.

Kelly said, "We get a real picture of the client's life when he goes into public. It is a good experience for them and the activity serves as a reward. The client sees his own progress in getting clients ready to move back out into community life."

The volunteer groups serve as models and clients can relate and learn from them. "For instance," Kelly said, "We have worked with one particular client to explain his diabetes to him, and that it is impossible for him to grab food. If he doesn't learn this lesson, he will not be able to go to any activities away from the hospital."

"Letting them go is a testing time for the staff to observe their clients. We test them in this community situation to see whether or not they might be able to handle a home-visitation. We test them in this community situation to see whether or not they might be able to handle a home-visitation. We test them in this community situation to see whether or not they might be able to handle a home-visitation."

Together, staff members and volunteers use the group activities as a yardstick in determining the possibility of a more speedy recovery and returning the person to his home and family.

Inland Waterway Tolls, Other Proposals Called Harmful to This Metropolitan Area

A draft report of the National Water Commission on the future use of water in the U. S. would have disastrous effects on the economy of this metropolitan area, Robert G. Goodwin, representative of the Water Resources Congress, believes.

The WRC is an organization comprised of organizations, companies and individuals interested in "orderly development and conservation of the nation's water resources, including the inland waterways."

One proposition in the Commission report which would be especially harmful to the economy of the greater St. Louis area—in Goodwin's opinion—is that which recommends the imposition of tolls on the inland waterways.

"Local industry would suffer because raw materials it needs would be more costly due to additional transportation costs," he said.

"These products would include coal and oil for electrical production, iron, steel and ore for manufacturing and such materials as sand, gravel and cement for housing, road and industrial construction."

"Barge lines could not absorb these charges and stay in business. The cost would have to be passed on to the consumer out of necessity, adding to the inflationary spiral already pinching the consumer's pocketbook."

"Such tolls would place St. Louis area industry at a great disadvantage, industry in areas closer to the source of supply, such as the Gulf of Mexico, would get their raw materials for less money."

"The WRC also points out that imposition of tolls would break faith with the American people who have spent their tax money, through appropriations by their representatives in Congress, on the improvement of waterways they thought would be forever free."

"They have done this so they could move their freight in the least expensive way."

"It has also been pointed out by WRC that pleasure boat owners, too, would feel the brunt of the Commission's proposals."

"They would have to pay lockage fees to pass through the riverlocks, and also charges for using boat launching ramps, small boat harbor construction and maintenance, recreational areas and other facilities."

"Another radical departure in water resource projects has been recommended by the Commission in its proposal that local government entities will be required to guarantee repayment of all expenses, plus interest, before water projects can be started."

"Previously the federal government, or the American people as a whole, financed such projects."

"For instance, although traffic from all over the Midwest and South passes through Lock 26 on the Mississippi River at Alton, the state of Illinois and Missouri would probably have to pay the cost of building the new locks which have been proposed to replace the obsolete structure now in use."

"And, although many areas will benefit from the flood control and water shortage of the proposed Meramec River Basin dams, local people would have to pay for the cost of the project."

"Under the new plan, the concept of orderly water resource development that has grown up since the early 1800 would be junked, leading to chaos in water development, higher costs and longer construction time."

"It would hurt future work on flood control, irrigation, water supply and water transportation at a time when such projects will be needed in greater and greater amounts to meet the country's needs in the future."

"The National Water Commission has held public hearings on its proposals in Spokane, Wash., and Phoenix, Ariz., with two scheduled at New Orleans, La., Feb. 5-6 and Washington, D. C., Feb. 8-9."

"Written comments will be received by the Commission at its headquarters in Room 405 at 800 North Quincy St., Arlington, Va. 22203 until Feb. 15," Goodwin said.

"The Water Resources Congress is urging interested citizens to protest the report, especially the proposals for tolls and complete local responsibility for financing new water resource projects and maintaining the present ones."

"WRC also suggests that local senators and congressmen be notified of this opposition."

GCHS Ends Losing Streak, Beat Sparta 75-62 After Bowling to Alton by 67-63

The Granite City High School basketball Warriors broke a nine-game losing streak Saturday as they defeated Sparta 75-62. On the road Friday GCHS lost a Southwestern Conference game to Alton 67-63 in an overtime battle.

Sparta took a first-quarter lead 20-17 but the Warriors outpointed their opponents in the second quarter 27-19 to take over at half time by 44-39.

Sparta was held to six points in the third quarter as the GCHS lead increased to 59-45. Sparta then outpointed the Warriors 17-16 in the final act.

The Warriors shot 58% from the floor, sinking 23 of 40, while Sparta hit 54%, making 19 in 35 tries.

The Warriors were 51% from the charity line with 17 of 34 and Sparta had 24 of 36 attempts for 66%.

Tom Paterson scored 24 points to lead the Warriors attack. Other GCHS cagers scoring were Mark Gauen 17, Greg Gauen 13, Brett Champion 6, and Steve Melzer, Don Lloyd and Gary Simpson 2.

"After losing nine straight you have to be happy when you win, but we still are not playing well," Warrior Coach Don Deiderling said. "We were very flat. We just did not play good defense. The game seemed to be a fouling contest. I think one of the problems that caused us to play the way we did against Sparta Saturday was a mental letdown from Friday when we lost in overtime to Alton."

Both teams Saturday had 30 fouls and Warrior's Vrenick.

Lloyd, Logus and Paterson fouled out as the Warriors committed 22 personal fouls and Alton 19.

"We had an early lead and everything was going well, but we lacked the ability to convert free throws in the last two minutes of the game," Deterding said. "We also lost the ball three times in those last two minutes, plus losing three starters on fouls, being without the service of Clithompson the entire game, and Martinez hurring his ankle in the first quarter did not help us one bit."

Vrenick was high point man with 22, followed by Paterson 18, Mark Gauen 10, Martinez, Lloyd and Greg Gauen 4 and Darrell Paul 2.

The junior varsity lost to Alton 52-32 as Paterson scored 15 points.

Undeclared Again, Warrior Wrestlers End 21-0 Season

Undeclared! The Granite City High School varsity wrestlers earned distinction by downing East St. Louis Lincoln the final opponent on their dual meet schedule this season, 43-9 here Friday night. It is the second consecutive season the Warriors have not been defeated in dual meets.

Since the end of the 1971 season, Granite City wrestlers have won 42 consecutive dual matches and Friday's victory ended the dual meet season with 18 wins against teams in the sectional area.

The 1972-73 record was 21-0 for this year's squad, bettering the former "best season ever" record of 18-0 set last year and the most ever for a Warrior team in a single season.

Against Lincoln, Granite City won nine matches, four by pins, while the East Side opponents collected only three wins, all by decisions.

The Warriors moved to a quick 18-0 lead in the first four matches as Pat MacMillan (98 pounds) was granted a forfeit, Phil Lapinski (105) won 11-2, John Niebur (112) maneuvered his man to a pin in 2:59 and Kerry Johnson (119) won 3-0.

Lincoln then upset Dennis Ragan (126) 5-4, his first dual meet loss of the season. Dan Heath (132) added six more to the Granite City record by pinning his man in five minutes.

Chester Fetter (128) elected in for Dave Rushing who may be out for the season with a knee injury and earned his first varsity victory by pinning a 5-0 decision. It was followed by a pin in 5:10 by Ken Nolan (145) and a struggle-from-behind pin in 4:40 by Brian Wilson (155).

During the first period of that match, Wilson felt behind 9-6. He fought hard in the second period to take a 9-6 lead, and in the third period, he pinned his tired opponent.

Jack Schooley (167) followed with a 13-0 superior decision. Lincoln downed John Avestian (185) 5-4 and John McMillan (heavyweight) 4-2.

While the varsity dual was underway, the Warrior sophomores were fighting their final match of the year against East St. Louis. A 45-3 win gave the sophomores a 9-0 undefeated record.

The junior varsity squad completed its season last week with a 10-0 record.

First round matches will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday with the finals and consolation bouts at 7 p.m. Alton, Belleville East, Belleville West, Cahokia, Collinsville and East St. Louis will field teams against the Warriors to attempt to snap the Granite City record of 14 consecutive conference crowns.

Devils Sneak By Trojans

56-55; Down St. Paul 91-79

The Venice High School Red Devils came close to losing as a team can Friday when they slipped by the Madison Trojans 56-55, but then on Saturday the Devils beat St. Paul of Highland 91-79.

Madison shot better from the floor, hitting on 23 of 52 attempts for 44%, compared to Venice which hit 23 in 60 attempts for 38%.

From the charity line Madison sank nine in 11 tries for 82%; and Venice hit 10 out of 20 for 50%.

Madison was in front 13-10 in the first quarter, but Venice reversed it and at half time the Devils led 28-23. Madison outpointed Venice in the third quarter 20-12 to regain the lead at 48-40.

In the final act the Trojans were outpointed 15-13. The Trojans missed their chance to put the game into overtime with four seconds to go, as the second free throw of a one-and-one shot went astray.

With 12 seconds left, Trojan Kevin Boyd's bucket brought the Trojans within two points 56-54.

Big 6-5 Devil Ron Henry snaggged the rebound on sophomore Trojan Darrell Franklin's second charity toss and made it 56-54.

Franklin sank his first one with four seconds in the game, preserving a perfect 18-0 season for Venice.

"Both teams seemed a bit tight," Venice Coach Bill Ohlendorf commented. "I think both of us can play much better than we did."

Henry, with 24, was top point maker in the game. Charles Anthony "Ducky" Matthews who has been one of their top point makers, Matthews was hurt in practice on Thursday.

The Devils, with the aid of Henry, led in the rebound battle 42-32 with Trojan Lucas snagging 14.

Cougar Cagers Split Pair, Drop Thriller at Bolivar

It was tired and disenchanted, but not discouraged, basketball team which filed wearily out of a bus on the huge parking lot at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville around 2 a.m. Sunday.

The Cougar cagers of Coach Jim Dudley had just lost a heartbreaking 81-76 game to Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar, Mo., Saturday night, breaking SIUE's six-game winning streak and dropping its season mark to 12-7. Southwest now is 10-10.

The loss came the night after SIUE trounced Indiana Southeast of Jeffersonville by a score of 107-67 at the Edwardsville High School gym.

Six of the Cougars' seven losses took place on the unfriendly road. But, despite his disappointment, Dudley wasn't blaming his charges' loss to Southwest on officiating et al. Instead, he was looking ahead to the six games remaining on the Cougars' schedule.

"They had what it took to withstand the pressure our players threw at 'em," Dudley said instead of complaining. Tied at the half 38-38, after SIUE had battled to a 52-49 lead with seven minutes to go in the first half, four troubles of Cougar ace Leon Wright (two), Thurman "Butch" Ferree (three), Terry Carlson (two), Tony Johnson (two) and Denny Thronburg (two) had forced Dudley to break up the combination which has spurred the Cougars to dreams of a possible post-season Midwest NCAA college division tournament bid.

Like Dudley said to his sleepy players Sunday morning: "It took a great effort to beat you and we won't worry about it."

We'll concentrate on the future."

Tim Elliott, Gary Washington and Clarence Hampton were the trio of SWBC Bearcats that did the job on the Cougars in that final 20 minutes. Elliott, who like the Cougars' Johnson is one of the nation's leaders at the free-throw line, made 14 of his 24 points with seven-out-of-seven field goals the final half. For the game, the deadeye Elliott was 9-of-15 from the floor and a perfect 6-for-6 from the charity line.

Terry Carlson, who was held to only one basket the first half, put on a demonstration of shooting to help Tony Johnson keep the Cougars in contention the final half. Carlson, a SIUE senior from Moline, made 8-of-9 field goals in the frenzied final 20 minutes.

In the ding-dong battle the second half, the Cougars led only once at 52-49 gone on the clock when Johnson made his fourth straight basket to give SIUE a 64-63 lead. From then on the game's outcome was in doubt.

In the final half, the Cougars weren't awarded a single free throw. The game was decided at the foul line: Southwest made 13-of-16 to SIUE's 8-of-11. Coach Dudley used the entire squad in SIUE's romp over Indiana Southeast.

The Cougars took an early lead and were ahead 50-31 at the half. A major factor in the victory was in the rebounding ability of the Cougars, taking 67 off the boards while South-east grabbed 36. The winners also scored with a 47.7% field goal mark.

Ferre shared scoring honors with Southeast's Jim Terry as each bucketed 18 points. The Dudley men boasted three others in double figures as Johnson and Carlson came up with 17 each and Thronburg with 12.

Others in the game were Frank Ramsey and Nelson with 8 each, Leon Wright and Jerry

Waterways Awards Contest Announced

Two Capt. Donald T. Wright awards for distinguished journalism dealing with inland and interstate waterways will be given this spring at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Deadline for entries is March 16.

Last year's recipient was James L. Stanfield, National Geographic photographer, who won for his color photographs published in the magazine and later in a book, "The Mighty Mississippi," written by Bern Keating.

A special award was also given posthumously to Hocking Carter for his book, "Man and the River: the Mississippi," and for his long record of "excellence in maritime journalism." Carter was editor of the Greenville, Miss., Delta-Democrat Times.

Wright was the editor and publisher of Waterways Journal from 1922 to 1963.

Plaques will be presented to the Wright award winners in ceremonies on the SIUE campus in May. Entries should be submitted to John Rider, chairman of the mass communications faculty at SIUE.

Guidelines for Non-Public School Aid Told

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service

Springfield — If and when the Illinois Supreme Court upholds the state's program for aid to non-public schools, the guidelines for implementation are ready and waiting.

The office of state school superintendent Michael Bakalis has completed the plans, spelling out who is eligible, what aid is available, and how to apply for it. School districts are also told how to account for their participation to be reimbursed. Unless the program is implemented before next June 30, the $20.5 million appropriation for the current fiscal year will revert to the state's general revenue fund. Since the Supreme Court is not presently sitting, it seems unlikely any decision will be handed down before March, suggesting that the public and private schools might have to march at double time in order to complete all the various necessary operations of the new program in time to qualify for funds.

Under the program, money will not go directly to the parents or to the non-public schools but instead will be paid by the state superintendent's office to public school districts as reimbursement for textbook grants and auxiliary services provided.

It has been suggested that the $20.5 million may not be enough to fully reimburse the districts for their costs in which case the losses will be borne by the district, while reimbursements will be prorated. However the guidelines have been set up to allow adequate time for the superintendent's office to let the Legislature know if a deficiency appropriation, if necessary.

The guidelines spell out that participation is mandatory. No public or non-public school can refuse to take part if a parent with a child enrolled in a non-public school requests participation.

To qualify, non-public schools must already have been fully approved, certified and functioning for at least two years prior to application. They must also be in compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act, and must furnish signed certification they have passed inspection by the state fire marshal's office within the prior three months.

A parent who wishes to participate will ask his non-public school for separate application for textbooks and auxiliary services (if he wishes these) for each child in attendance. These will show the applicant's name and address, that of the child with his age and grade level, the relationship to the applicant, the name and address of the non-public school, and the textbooks or auxiliary services requested. Schools are expected to provide help in telling parents what texts to request.

Auxiliary services are defined as health, guidelines and counseling, psychologist, and remedial and therapeutic programs for the educationally disadvantaged. These last appear by the guidelines to be limited to remedial reading skills, and the teaching of English as a second language.

The non-public school must provide applications within 15 days, and when they are completed and returned, must send them to the appropriate public school district within 15 days. (If different texts are needed for a second semester, these completed applications must be sent the public school district within seven days.)

Districts which provide free textbooks in their public schools will have to provide free textbooks to non-public students, while districts which rent textbooks must rent them at the same rate to non-public pupils. But if a district sells textbooks to its public school students, it is not obligated to provide free textbooks to non-public school children.

Texts for both schools must be chosen from a list of approved texts and publishers compiled by the superintendent's office. Non-public schools do not have to use the same texts for similar courses, but the guidelines specifically prohibit a district from providing any text if it costs more than the highest priced comparable book being used in public schools.

Public school districts will have to notify their regional educational service office of their fully itemized costs by June 1, and that office must certify these and present them to the state superintendent's office by June 15. The superintendent, in turn, must voucher those amounts for payment no later than Sept. 15.

If the law is declared constitutional, public school districts and non-public schools will be notified of a deficiency appropriation, if necessary, and begin spending money and bring personnel to implement the bill.

Auxiliary services must be provided on an equal basis to those provided in a public school. That is, if a public district has 100 students needing remedial instruction and provides four remedial teachers, then it must furnish one remedial teacher for each 25 students needing such service in non-public schools. Or, if a public school has one nurse for 5,000 students, there must be one nurse for every 5,000 non-public school students.

In some cases, personnel will work entirely in the non-public school, but they will still be public school district employees and be paid by the school district.

The public school districts will not have to provide any auxiliary services they do not provide for their own students. Certain such services, however, are required for all schools in the state.

Should the court throw out the act as unconstitutional, Jack Watson, an assistant to Bakalis, has already said the work of drawing the guidelines will not be wasted. Rather, "if it comes up, we'll be ready."

SIUE Chemist Discovers Easier, Cheaper Way to Produce Drug

A chemist at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Prof. Michael Matta, has found an easier and cheaper way to produce L-dopa, a therapeutic drug which has been found effective in the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

The SIUE Foundation is securing a patent on his discovery, which came quite by accident, Matta said, "I am interested in digestive enzymes and found that one of the compounds we were working with could be converted to dopa by a simple chemical procedure."

For almost 10 years it has been known that persons afflicted with Parkinson's disease could be helped by L-dopa. Parkinson's disease usually comes after middle age and effects motor function.

"One of the transmitters to the brain is dopamine," Matta explained, "which the body produces from dopa. Those with Parkinson's disease evidently can't produce dopamine so they take L-dopa. Dopamine controls some brain impulses and alleviates the tremor characteristic of this ailment."

"Alleviation of these tremors requires five to ten grams of L-dopa per day," Matta said, at a cost of approximately $35. The high cost is due to the slow reaction rates and poor yields generally associated with most of the previously known methods for preparing L-dopa. Matta, who estimates that a half million persons in this country suffer from Parkinson's disease, says his object is to provide an improved method for the production of L-dopa which allows for relatively high reaction rates and high yields, using readily available starting materials.

"According to the National Institute of Health," Matta said, "the compound presently being used has some serious effects so there also is a need for a way to get the pure L compound."

"We found the enzymes very fussy," Matta recalled, "and had several misfires, but finally we hit on a compound with which one digestive enzyme could selectively react so that we could produce pure L-dopa. When we were able to predict which compound would work, the conversion worked beautifully."

Matta attributes part of the credit for the breakthrough to three SIUE graduate students: Michael F. Rohde of St. Louis, now working toward a Ph.D. degree at Ohio State University; Joe A. Kelley, Collinsville.

who attends St. Louis University Medical School; and Anthony Tietz of Indianapolis, who came to SIUE last fall from Africa where he had been with the Peace Corps.

Born in Dayton, Ohio, Matta received his B.S. degree in chemistry from the University of Dayton and his Ph.D. in organic chemistry from Indiana University. From 1966 to 1968 he was senior research chemist in Mansfield, Ohio, with Monsanto Research Corp. In 1968 he went to Amherst College as a teaching and research associate and joined the SIUE faculty in 1969.

File Tax Returns Early, District Director Urges

"The earlier you file your federal income tax return, the earlier you will receive your refund," Leon C. Green, district director for Central and Southern Illinois, advised today.

"By filing out your tax return now, you avoid the last minute rush and are less likely to make careless mistakes."

"Before you start, gather together your cancelled checks, receipts and other financial papers and be sure to include a copy of last year's return," he suggested.

"Then, take a good look at the new tax forms and read the instructions carefully. You will find the completely revised instructions much easier to follow and understand."

"By preparing your return well ahead of the April 15 filing deadline, it will be easier to determine all your tax deductions and figure the lowest possible tax. It will also allow time to double-check any problems that may arise and to review your return to correct any possible errors."

"If you need additional information or assistance, contact the Internal Revenue Service Office nearest you," Green concluded.

Steel Output in 1972 Highest in Three Years

Domestic steel production reached its highest level in three years during 1972.

According to preliminary figures from American Iron and Steel Institute, mills in this country poured 133,102,000 tons of raw steel during the year. This was a jump of 12,658,000 tons over 1971's figure of 120,443,000 tons. It also was the highest one-year output since the record total of 141,262,000 tons produced in 1969, and the third highest on record.

In 1972, both the basic oxygen and electric furnaces increased their share of total steel production. BOFs produced 74,584,000 tons, or 56.0% of the year's total output. This compares with 63,943,000 tons, or a 33.1% share of total production in 1971. Electric furnace output in 1972 was 23,544,000 tons or 17.7% of the year's total. This compares with 20,974,000 tons, or 17.4% of all steel made in 1971.

Meanwhile, open hearth furnace production dropped to 34,524,000 tons, or 25.9% of the total. The previous year, open hearths had made 35,536,000 tons, or 29.5% of the total.

December steel production was 11,878,000 tons, the second highest monthly total of the year, and the highest one-month total since May.

ASIS's steelmaking index, based on average 1967 production as 100, stood at 109.9 in December 1972. This compares with an index of 109.0 for November and 107.9 for October.

Miss Ranft Returns From Tour of Europe

Miss Lorain D. Ranft, 2650 Delmar Ave., returned to the United States last week after having completed a four-week study of the arts before 1700.

One of numerous off-campus courses sponsored by Lindenwood College during its January term, and taught by one of its professors, English Department, Chairman James Festy in Europe, the seminar took students to the Netherlands, Belgium, France and Italy for a study of medieval and renaissance painting, sculpture and architecture.

The class studied Romanesque and Gothic cathedrals in France, attended a vespers service in a medieval monastery in Fiesole, Italy, and visited the sites of artistic masterpieces in Amsterdam, Paris, Venice, Ravenna, Florence and Rome.

Miss Ranft, a 1971 graduate of Granite City High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Ranft. The Lindenwood Colleges are composed of Lindenwood College for Women, oldest women's college west of the Mississippi, and Lindenwood College II, for men, established in 1969. The two 4-year liberal arts colleges share facilities and facilities on a 140-acre campus in St. Charles, Mo.

300th Anniversary Celebrations

Seven Men to Follow Marquette-Joliet Trail by Canoe

Seven men outfitted in 17th Century clothing and traveling by canoe will undertake a strenuous voyage down the Mississippi River from Wisconsin to Arkansas this summer.

The four-month voyage from St. Ignace, Mich., to Helena, Ark., and the return trip will be the reenactment of the historic trip of Louis Joliet and Jacques Marquette in 1673.

The trip will be the major highlight of the tri-centennial celebration of the exploration of the Mississippi and Illinois rivers by Europeans and will be observed by nine states from Minnesota to Louisiana.

The seven men, all from the Chicago area and able to speak French, will leave St. Ignace on May 17 in two canoes and in the following four months will work their way down to Helena, Ark., where the voyage will end Sept. 19.

Robert Sullivan, chief of tourism, Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, said the trip will be as historically accurate as possible, following the journals kept by Joliet and Marquette.

A Springfield man, Dean Campbell, is in charge of the authenticity of the clothing. The two canoes will be fiberglass, but designed to look like birch wood, and the interior of the canoes will be made of wood brought from Canada.

The voyagers, Sullivan said, will start at St. Ignace, travel down the northwest shore of Lake Michigan to Green Bay, across Wisconsin via the Fox River (Wisconsin river) and the Upper Fox River to the Mississippi. From there the group will travel south to Helena.

There they will reverse course and come back up the Mississippi until they reach the Illinois River and will travel across the state until they reach Chicago. From there the voyagers will go along the west shore of Lake Michigan back to Green Bay.

Plans for the voyage were developed about a year ago when tourism directors for the nine states that border the Mississippi river met and started planning for a tri-centennial celebration.

Sullivan said the nine states involved are Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana, plus one or two Canadian provinces.

The reason the voyage will stop at Helena, Ark., and return back up river is because the Joliet and Marquette expedition started the return trip there after receiving reports of hostile Indians and Spaniards farther south.

However, from information obtained from the Indians and navigational equipment, they charted their maps to show the Mississippi flowed south to the Gulf of Mexico instead of turning westward and flowing to California, as originally believed.

The reenactment of the voyage, Sullivan said, will not reach all of the states along the Mississippi River, to comply with historical accuracy, but all of the nine states are planning some type of celebration for the 300th anniversary of the trip.

The seven men on the voyage will try to reach the states and stopover points as near the same dates as the original exploration party as possible. Sullivan added there are plans to have the trip documented for use on television.

The voyagers will enter Illinois sometime between June 17 and June 25 and travel down the Mississippi until July 8, when they will leave the boundaries of the state. On the return trip they will be on the Illinois river from Aug. 15 to Sept. 1.

This trip, Sullivan said, will be a major tourism project of the department this year because of the fact that it will represent 300 years of Illinois history and because of the length of the journey and the many celebrations planned.

He said Illinois will possibly gain more than any of the other states because the voyage group will spend more time in Illinois and will travel two rivers.

Many cities along the Mississippi and Illinois rivers are planning festivities and the Division of Tourism is coordinating its activities with the Illinois Joliet-Marquette Tri-Centennial Commission. Each state's division of tourism will be responsible to see the voyagers have the necessary support food, lodging, etc., while traveling through that state.

Another major event to commemorate the 300th anniversary will be a nine-day festival at the arch in St. Louis sponsored by the National Parks Commission. The festival will begin July 4 and will feature native exhibits of each state taking part in the tri-centennial.

In addition each state will be featured for one day. Illinois Day is Sunday, July 8, and the Division of Tourism will show exhibits of crafts, folklore, singing and dancing.

Illinois cities along the Mississippi River that have an interest in participating in celebration for the voyage so far are Peoria, LaSalle, Ottawa, Moline, Nauvoo, Alton, Grand Tower, Chester and Cairo.

Sullivan said celebrations to commemorate 300 years of Illinois history are not limited to the voyage, and any community can plan observances.

He added that any community or group that wants help in forming some type of observance should call the Division of Tourism offices in Springfield.

SIUC Staggers Courses For Summer Session

A 1973 summer session calendar that offers something for just about everyone has been announced by Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Instead of one 11-week quarter stretching from mid-June to the end of August, SIUC will offer courses in sessions of two weeks, four weeks, five and one-half weeks and the traditional 11 weeks.

Registrar Kirby Browning said the flexible calendar has been arranged to give students more leeway in determining when they want to attend classes. He said courses have been scheduled in all the varying sessions so that most students can carry a full class load and still have some time for themselves during the summer.

"It's going to be particularly helpful to students who want to work part of the summer and to teachers in graduate courses who have to get back to their jobs before the 11-week quarter ends," Browning said.

An intensive two-week "pre-session" will begin June 4. Most of the course offerings will be specialized courses in professional education which will meet most of the day, five days a week.

The full 11-week session is scheduled to start June 18, as well as four, five and one-half, and eight week units.

Second rounds of the four and five and one-half week sessions will get underway July 26. Undergraduates can pre-register and be advised from April 9 to June 1, and again on June 18 and June 20.

For graduate students, registration will start April 16 and end June 28.

New Employment Agency Opens Here

The office is operated by Wray Schultz of St. Louis who has been in the employment service field the last 10 years in Alton.

Prior to entering the field, Schultz was sales manager for Midland Container Corp., St. Louis, 15 years. He holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Washington University, St. Louis.

Schultz now identifies job openings himself and places applicants, but he plans to add an employment counselor in the near future. He will continue to locate jobs for the applicants.

Governor's Staff Includes Well-Paid 'Walker Wonders'

By BOB ESTILL
Copy Editor

Springfield—Gov. Dan Walker's initial front office payroll belies his 'campaign talk of cutting costs in state government.

An examination of payroll records show Walker has failed to use a sharp knife to prune the payroll closest to him, his own executive office staff of receptionists and clerks, the so-called "front office."

Walker's initial executive office payroll sharply exceeds Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's initial payroll and nears the level of the Ogilvie staff at its peak. Ogilvie's staff of young, highly paid "whiz kids" came under fire from legislators and Walker as Ogilvie's big spender while contending he would cut government costs.

Walker's payroll includes many "Walker wonders," young persons in their 20s or early 30s, drawing the same high pay — and higher — that drew heat for Ogilvie.

The total monthly payroll for the 43 persons listed on Walker's executive office staff will run $31,677 for the first full month — and the Walker staff is not complete.

In February 1969, Ogilvie had 35 persons on the executive office payroll at a cost of $30,042 a month. In November 1972, Ogilvie had 56 on the payroll at $60,759 a month.

Some Walker aides are starting out at salaries as high as or higher than Ogilvie aides in comparable jobs made after four years on the job.

Fred Bird, Ogilvie's press secretary, made $2,208.34 a month or $26,500 a year. Norton Kay, Walker's press secretary, is starting at $2,500 a month or $30,000 a year.

At $30,000 a year, Kay's salary was equal to some of the state officials until the legislature approved pay hikes earlier this month. For instance, the governor made $45,000 and the lieutenant governor $25,000 while the other state officials received $30,000.

Now the governor gets $50,000, the lieutenant governor $37,500, the comptroller and treasurer $40,000 each and the secretary of state, school superintendent and attorney general $42,500 each.

However, the school superintendent and the treasurer are still at $30,000—$5,000 less than Kay's salary — because they can't get a pay hike in mid-term.

The only $35,000-a-year man on Ogilvie's "front-office" staff was Jeremiah Marsh, the Chicago attorney who was his special counsel.

William Goldberg, the 35-year-old Chicago attorney who was one of Walker's key campaign advisers, is starting out at $35,000 a year as Walker's counsel.

In addition to Goldberg, Walker has hired 32-year-old Chicago lawyer Chester Kamin as a $2,500-a-month "special counsel."

Also at $2,500-a-month (or $30,000-a-year) are Douglas Kane, 32, of Springfield, Walker's legislative liaison; and David Cleveland, 31, of Chicago, assistant for agencies, including all pollution control agencies.

At $30,000 a year, they are making as much as most of the code department directors and more than directors of some smaller departments.

Kane, former staff director for House Minority Leader Clyde Chaste of Anna, has $2,000-a-month assistants — David Caravello, 30, and Michael Duncan, 32, both of Chicago.

Ogilvie legislative chores were handled by William Haney and Arthur Swanson, who drew peak monthly salaries of $1,766 and $2,208. They were assisted by James Jeffers, at $1,076 a month.

Ogilvie had a total of 20 persons in executive capacities — press secretary, assistant press secretary, administrative, legislative and executive assistants.

With all spots not yet filled or reflected on payroll records, Walker already has 10 assistants, three administrative aides, a press secretary and assistant press secretary, two appointments secretaries, an information specialist, two office managers and a special counsel.

Madison Planning, Zoning Group Appointed by Sasyk

New life was given to the old inactive Madison Planning and Zoning Commission last week as Mayor Mike Sasyk appointed 10 city residents to the board for one-year terms.

In making the appointments, Sasyk indicated the board is to be charged with specific duties which he will announce within 10 days.

"I think we have a real outstanding committee here and they will have quite a bit to do," he told the City Council at its regular meeting.

He indicated a top priority for the commission will be to formulate a plan for renewing the State Street sector of Madison.

"The real blight in the city is along State Street and I'll have some recommendations to them about that area. We are not going to put any $50,000 homes there, but we have some recommendations for improving it," he said.

Sasyk said one auto dealer already has purchased land at Eighth and State streets for a car lot, the first of many improvements the city has been urging.

Members appointed to the board and approved by the City Council are John Bellico, city clerk, and John Piechocinski, Eunice Hatcher, William Cusick, George Amick, William Vavra, Ezekiel Moore, Ollie Walker, Steve Rydick and Alex Schenhofer.

Sasyk indicated he did not know how many of the members of the old planning and zoning board remained with unexpired terms, but said they would be welcome to join the newly appointed members in planning for the city's future.

Employment Costs of Steel Industry Rise

Hourly domestic steel industry employment costs for wage earners rose during November, according to newly disclosed statistics of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

At the same time, industry employment increased slightly, ending a moderate decline which began in August.

AIISI reported that total employment costs per hour for hourly employees reached $7.39 in November.

November's wage and salary payments were $599,290,000, which raised the total of such payments through the first 11 months of 1972 to $5,340,822,000.

During the month, the number of persons engaged in production and marketing of steel rose to 468,558 from October's figure of 463,340. The increase ended a moderate three-month decline in such employment.

In November 1971, the number of such persons on industry payrolls fell to 429,765, as steel employment hit a 32-year low.

We have some interesting patterns in Melmac ware dinner plates. We're buying them by the barrel and you can save at 4 for $1.00. They are mixed patterns so just dig in the barrel and have yourself a ball. Also cups and saucers at 3 for $1.00.

We had our departmental meeting last Wednesday night and one of our people asked this question: "Since meat is high, why don't people buy more turkey?" We were at a loss to come up with an answer, but the question is good. Why don't they?

One of the "speakers" that we have been selling that are real "busts" are turkey tails. Many of our customers have found that turkey tails make a delicious meal. We sell them four pounds for one dollar. Cooked with noodles or beans, one dollar's worth of turkey tails will easily feed six people. ALL THEY CAN EAT. Some people still ask, "what are turkey tails?" The answer is, when turkeys are processed into parts, you get breasts, legs, thighs, wings, necks and tails. The tail is a tasty piece of meat, surrounded with enough fat and skin to really flavor a pot of noodles or beans or dumplings or whatever. Try it, you'll like it.

If you haven't heard our bird singing in the tree with the bird seed display, come in. We have some of these singing birds on order and will be on sale in a few weeks. We now have the new Jimmy Dean Pork Sausage. On sale this week at a special price. This is the sausage you have been seeing on TV and hearing about on radio. Schermer's has it.

Current officers are Harold R. Fischer, Granite City, chairman; Ivan A. Elliott Jr., Carman; vice chairman; and Martin Van Brown, Carbondale, secretary. Fischer is vice-chairman of the First Granite City National Bank.

The terms of Elliott and Van Brown have expired, but the two will continue on the board until reappointments or replacements are named by Governor Dan Walker and confirmed by the Senate.

The board will reconsider a financing proposal for additional student housing at SIUE and will consider a medical service research plan for the School of Medicine at Carbondale and Springfield.

Among other items on the agenda are: a change in name and organization changes in the Vocational-Technical Institute, plans for remodeling of medical school facilities at Carbondale and renovation at the dental school at Alton, an exchange with the City of Carbondale and renovation at the dental school at Alton, an exchange with the City of Carbondale of two small parcels of land on which water towers are located, and amendments to the tax sheltered annuity plan at SIU.

SPRINTING INTO ACTION, a Granite City fireman wearing an oxygen mask puts his hat on while on the run during a fire Saturday morning at the Imperial 400 Motel, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave.

All Candidates in Race as Withdrawal Period Ends

The list of candidates who filed nominating petitions, as candidates for offices subject to the April 3 elections in Granite City and in Quad-City area townships remained unchanged today following expiration of the withdrawal period Saturday.

Exploration of the withdrawal period assures a race for the Granite City mayor's office, for six of the city's seven aldermanic posts and for the supervisor's post in Granite City Township.

Two full tickets will compete for the seven town offices open to election in Nameoki Township, while a ticket of incumbent township officials in Chouteau Township is anticipating opposition from another ticket expected to be close by caucus.

Action to seek a place on the ballot in the Chouteau Township election is scheduled in a Democratic caucus Tuesday night.

A bid for nomination is scheduled by a full ticket of candidates for all eight town posts, but opposition for those caucus nominations had developed today.

Circulars bidding for support of Democratic electors were in circulation today in behalf of Stanley Lucas, a candidate for assessor, and Morris Miles and Joe Stefanoff as candidates for town auditor.

Lucas is Democratic precinct committeeman of Precinct One and Miles is Democratic committeeman of Precinct Five.

Caucuses are to be held tomorrow in all Quad-City area townships except Granite City which is not required to schedule such meetings because Granite City township and city boundaries are coextensive.

The Chouteau Township Democratic caucus, the only one in which the nomination of candidates is likely, will be held at 7 p.m. in the Old Parish Hall at Mitchell. It will be preceded by the Republican caucus at 6 p.m. in the same location.

Nameoki Township will conduct its Democratic caucus at 7 p.m. in the township garage and the Republican caucus at 8 p.m. in the township offices.

Access Council Plea for Funds May Be Blocked

Plans by the Madison County Access Council to make alternate requests of $248,000 and $32,000 in state grants for social service referral may be blocked because of lack of funds.

The council announced at a meeting last week at St. Elizabeth Hospital here that it would seek the funds from the Illinois Institute for Social Policy.

But Walter Searfoss, institute deputy director, has said that funds are unavailable this fiscal year for any new projects, including the Madison County proposal, and added that there may be no funds available next fiscal year. He said the institute had been criticized for "overextending ourselves."

Staffing of a central office, three outlying offices and a traveling band would require an annual budget of $248,000, according to the Access Council board.

The professional staff would be responsible for seeing that persons in need of help are not bounced around among the agencies as in the past and would identify and attempt to fill service gaps within the county.

Richard Swayne, a sociology professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a member of the board, presented the proposal to representatives of about 50 public, private and volunteer social services in the county.

He said the council could seek state funds in phases, including hiring a "facilitator" and secretary for a central office requiring a budget of $32,490.

Harry Thiel, acting chairman of the board of the council and county juvenile probation officer, said the council's referral

Body Shop Burglary

Several rolls of coins totaling $100 were stolen in a burglary of the Spartan Auto Body Shop, 2905 Edwardsville Road, it was reported at 8:25 a.m. Saturday.

Entry was gained by knocking a lock off a side door and knocking a hole in the wall.

PICKPOCKET REPORTED

Carol Atwood, 2510 W. 23rd St., reported a woman pickpocket bumped into her at a Madison grocery store, opened her purse and stole her wallet Friday. Taken were about $10, several credit cards and personal papers.

HIT-AND-RUN ACCIDENT

An auto driven by David B. Costello, 2122 Elm St., making a left turn into the Nameoki Village shopping center, was struck in the left rear by a hit-and-run driver leaving the shopping center Friday night.

Program was modeled largely after one started in Peoria and funded by the institute.

Searfoss pointed out that the Peoria program was started and staffed by the institute as a pilot project, and the Madison County proposal is not sponsored by the institute.

Thiel said that if the Access Council fails to obtain state funds it would seek money from private foundations.

The council was organized last March and has held four meetings. It is supposed to include persons providing social services and those receiving them, but few of the recipients have attended the meetings.

Recipients are needed to identify problems of red tape and lack of response by agencies, Swayne said. The council includes four task forces: study projects in health care, housing, education and transportation.

It is a good idea to have a medicine chest that's separate from your bathroom cabinet. This makes it easy to keep potent drugs and poisons out of reach of children. Here is a good basic list for a well-stocked medicine chest:

absorbent cotton — adhesive tape — aspirin — atomizer — bicarbonate of soda — cold cream — cough syrup — eyeglass salts — eye cup — thermometer — gauze bandage — medicine dropper — milk of magnesia — mineral oil — nose drops — ointment for burns — petroleum jelly — rubbing alcohol — scissors and tweezers — sponges of ammonia — throat swabs — tongue depressors.

Library System Is Coterie Topic

Jack Prillman, director of the Lewis and Clark Library System, was guest speaker Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the Ladies Coterie.

The group met at the First United Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. G. E. Halpama as the hostess. Mrs. Charles Kohl, program chairman, introduced the library system official.

Prillman told Coterie members that many people, especially retirees, now have more free time for reading, but find books too expensive to purchase, so they are using libraries more than ever before.

"Education is a never ending thing. It is a continuous process for those who are interested in new things and keeping up with changes in the world," the speaker added.

The Lewis and Clark system covers a seven-county area with a population of about 385,000. The system, started in 1966, has a budget of $240,000 and supplements what local libraries can offer.

The program also encourages public libraries to update, improve and expand their own facilities and service to communities. Prillman reported.

Mrs. C. L. Louis offered the club collect and Mrs. Bonard Maples gave the pledge of allegiance. An opening song was led by Mrs. E. J. Griffin.

Mrs. Clarence Boettger will serve as hostess at the Coterie's next meeting, it was announced.

A goal of $1,000 is being sought to award two $500 scholarship grants to Granite City High School students, Steve Ortiz, commission president, said today.

PASSENGER INJURED

Edna Given, 43, of Memphis, Tenn., was injured when an auto in which she was riding, driven by Donna J. Childers, Highway 203, Madison, struck the parked car of Charles A. Aring, 2229 Cleveland Blvd., at 4:05 p.m. Saturday in the 2200 block of Cleveland.

The driver said she was blinded by the sun. The victim, who struck her head on the windshield, suffered a half-inch laceration to the hand and was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

3 County Officers Reject Computer Payroll System

Three Madison County officials have declined to turn over the payroll records of their office employees to permit the county's new $300,000 computer system to process payments, it was being contended.

Eulalia Hotz, county clerk, George Musso, treasurer, and Ronny Lucas, recorder of deeds, claim state statutes give them sole authority to conduct the internal operations of their offices which could process payroll checks more efficiently than the computer.

They believe that efforts of the county's data processing office to computerize the pay records is an infringement on their responsibilities by the County Board which supervises the system.

The office of the state's attorney general has indicated that the officials have no legal grounds to deny computer processing.

A member of the attorney general's staff expressed a personal opinion that the law relating to the powers of the officials pertains mainly to salary matters but does not mean that office payroll processing is their sole responsibility.

Thirty-eight county departments with more than 50 employees included in the computerized system, according to Robert Schriefer, county data processing official, and only the three offices, which employ 70, remain outside the system.

Miss Deborah J. Fox and Lonnie Dye Jr. Are Wed

Miss Deborah J. Fox, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Fox, 2906 Sunset Drive, and Lonnie E. Dye Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie E. Dye Sr., 2423 Iowa St., exchanged wedding vows Friday in an evening ceremony at Suburban Baptist Church.

Performing the double ring service in a candlelight setting was the Rev. Wendell Garrison. Miss Donna Cockrell sang "I Love You Truly," "Wedding Song," "There is Love," "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and "Close To You," accompanied at the organ by Wayne Fisher.

Mr. Fox escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore a pure white Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a high neckline marked with a lace ruffle and edged with iridescent sequins. Long tapered sleeves ended in a ruffled cuff.

A white satin ribbon accented the natural waistline, and the very bouffant skirt was designed with ruffled tiers cascading down the full sweep train. She wore a profile headpiece of Venise lace embellished with pearls to secure a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She held a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Barbara Glowacki, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Fox, the bride's cousin and Miss Jane Fox, another sister of the bride, were dressed alike.

Their gowns were created in ruby print, highlighted with gold and green on white moire taffeta. They were made with high ruffled necklines and long sleeves.

Ruby velvet vests, closed with tiny covered buttons, enhanced the bodices and a deep ruffled flounce bordered the skirts, draping at the back to give a polonaise effect.

Each attendant held a ruby velvet muff, with pink carnations attached at the front.

The little flower girl, Laura Bell, wore a frock designed in similar style to the adult attendants' dresses. She carried a white wicker basket filled with small red and white flowers.

The groom's best man, Terry Hall, a brother-in-law of the groom, and Fred Fox Jr., the bride's cousin, were groomsmen. Joseph Tayon and Larry Coker seated the guests.

Mrs. Fox chose for her daughter's wedding, a floor-length royal blue velvet gown accented with gold accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations tipped blue.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Dye, was attired in a peach dress, complemented with silver accessories. Her flowers were white carnations encircled with silver ribbon.

Guests were received by the newly-married couple at a reception held in the fellowship hall of the church after the service.

A rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party was given at Charlie's Restaurant.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dye Jr., are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride is employed at St. Elizabeth Hospital and her husband is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker and sons, John, Stephen and Timothy, of Decatur.

Some thoughts on conserving your money and everybody's water and energy

Nobody has to tell anybody these days that the family budget can be stretched only so far. At the same time we're all learning that our natural resources have limits too.

Here are a couple of things you can do (besides shrug your shoulders) about both problems.

Wait for a full load before you use your washing machine or dishwasher. It takes the same amount of power and water to wash a half-load as it does a full one. So doing fewer loads will save on both water and heating bills.

Leaky hot water taps waste more than water; they're a drain on the budget. Every month that tap keeps leaking could be costing you $2.00 or more.

Do your washing in the mid-evening hours. This makes the most efficient use of the electric energy we all depend on. These are off-peak hours when there's plenty of reserve energy available from Illinois Power generators. If there were a way we could make and store electricity during these hours, we'd do it. But there isn't, so it's wise for all of us to put this off-peak capacity to work.

It's our business to provide energy. But it's everybody's business to use it wisely.

on his birthday, February 12, 1967.
Who went to rest with our loving God November 6, 1970—
Just around the corner, A little out of sight
Our loved one walked ahead,
Into eternal light
Where he is waiting for us
In a brighter view
Where many other loved ones
Are waiting for us
And though your works are Over here, I just know God
Heard S. LAYMON, Guardian
Someday just around the corner
Earl, you'll find your loved ones
Waiting for you
The one's who loved you more than words can say
Will send you angels, Earl, some sweet happy day.
